

Professor Thurania shares his insights with the Dean, School of Education, Prof Samson Gunga

Professor Simon Thurania, the acting dean, Embu University, a constituent college of the University of Nairobi paid a visit to the Dean, School of Education. The meeting highlighted among other matters, possible collaborative work between the two institutions. It is anticipated that with subsequent talks, the two institutions will forge an even closer working relationship as new frontiers in the education sector are realised.

Prof Gunga speaks with Professor Thurania as he hosted him in the Deans office