

The school website champions were taken through a one hour refresher training on new modalities of posting and updating information on the website. The training was organised by the College's ICT department and was conducted by staff from Chiromo ICT centre. It is anticipated that with this training and a consistent website monitoring system, the College in general and the school in particular shall achieve and maintain a leadership position ultimately contributing to the overall webometric ranking.

The trainer, Mr Brian Abook takes the trainees through the steps.
