PHARMACOLOGY IN CAPE TOWN, SOUTH AFRICA

Prof. A.N. Guantai, Dr. M.N. Oluka and Dr. G.O. Osanjo represented the Department of Pharmacology and Pharmacognosy at the 17th World Congress of Basic and Clinical Pharmacology in Cape Town, South Africa, from the 13th -18th July 2014.

This prevalent and contemporary international congress aims to foster basic, clinical (therapeutic) and translational fields of pharmacological sciences. It creates a forum to discuss the latest developments in pharmacological sciences, to build collaboration networks, and to get an opportunity to listen to and interact with the world's leading pharmacologists.

- Prof A.N. Guantai chaired the session on Biological Medicines Development.
- Dr. M.N. Oluka made a presentation entitled Cytochrome P450 2B6 genetic Variants, Nevirapine plasma levels and Clinical Response in HIV-1-Infected Kenyan Women.
