

Prof. Jani appointed interim vice president of G4 alliance

Prof Pankaj Jani was recently elected as the interim Vice President of the recently launched G4 alliance. This appointment took place at the inauguration of the G4 alliance. The meeting took place in London, United Kingdom.

This appointment is in addition to his previous appointment onto the Lancet Global commission.

Both bodies serve an identical purpose of having (lack of widely available services in) surgery recognised as public health issue

Professor Jani is proving to be a champion in addressing the need for more recognition of the value of surgery at the international level

The department wishes him well in his new position and pledges all the support he needs in this endeavour.