

This is a two-day annual forum hosted by the Accounting Students Association to discuss the opportunities arising from integration of the East African countries and the challenges there of. This year the forum will be on 13th and 14th March daily from 8.30 am to 4.00 pm. The theme of the forum is ‘THE NEXUS BETWEEN ECONOMIC INTEGRATION AND PROSPERITY AMONG EAST AFRICAN COUNTRIES.’The forum brings together university students from Kenya, Tanzania, Rwanda and Uganda, providing an opportunity to learn from each other, share ideas and promote communication among the youth in the region. It also hosts distinguished guests from governments, private sectors, scholars, East African secretariat and international organizations.

In addition, we see this as an opportunity to get the young people to be involved in the industry with a clearer vision for this country and the East African Community.
