

The Great Rift Valley, Kenya

The exchange students (Christian, Elin and Jacob) from Upsalla university, Sweden attached to the optics and laser physics research group at the physics department having a tour of the Great Rift Valley in Iten, Kenya on a weekend. This also provided them an opportunity to see the country site, interact with the rural communities and also see the different vegetation and birds. At the department, their project was on employing inline digital holography in malaria detection.