

DoGES Faculty attends summer school on global change and sustainable environment

Ms. Parita Shah of the Department of Geography & Environmental Studies (DoGES) attended the 2013 summer school on "Global Change and Sustainable Environment". The summer school, which was held in Côte d'Ivoire in September 2013, is an international event coordinated by the Centre for Development and Environment (CDE) of the University of Bern, Switzerland. The summer school trains PhD candidates on methodological aspects, including writing and presentation skills. This year's summer school drew participants from Bolivia, Burkina Faso, Côte d'Ivoire, Democratic Republic of Congo, Ghana, Ethiopia, Kenya, Nepal, Switzerland and Tanzania. Ms. Shah would like to acknowledge the support of Dr. Boniface Kiteme (Director, Centre for Research in Arid & Semi-Arid Development) and Dr. Sam Owuor (Chairman, Department of Geography & Environmental Studies) for giving her the opportunity to attend the prestigious summer school.
