

Ms. Parita Shah participates in the official opening of Karura Forest Auditorium and Education Centre

Ms. Parita Shah of the Department of Geography & Environmental Studies (left in photo) assists the First Lady, Mrs. Margaret Kenyatta (cutting the ribbon), during the official opening of Karura Forest Auditorium and Educational Centre. Ms. Shah, “a friend of Karuraforest”, is an active member of the Karura Forest Environmental Educational Trust (KFEET). Like other members of the department, Ms. Shah is passionate about environmental conservation and corporate social and environmental responsibility. Karura forest is the only indigenous forest in the heart of a city in the world – and therefore the need to conserve and protect it. The function was attended by, among others, Kenya Forest Service, former Shell BP, Oshwal Education and Relief Board, the Green Belt Movement and the Friends of Karura Forest. Well done Parita! (Photo: Courtesy of Daily Nation of 4th June 2013/PPS).