

Dr. Lilian Kebaya - Winner of the 2015 American Pediatric Academy (APA) Global Health Research Award

We are proud to announce that one of our recently graduated pediatricians, Lilian Kebaya, presented her research at a platform session at the prestigious Pediatric Academic Societies (PAS) meeting, held in San Diego, California, USA, held from April 25-28, 2015. Dr. Kebaya's abstract, "Efficacy of Mobile Phone use on Adherence to Nevirapine Prophylaxis and Retention in Care Among the HIV Exposed Infants in Prevention of Mother to Child Transmission of HIV: A Randomized Controlled Trial." was selected as the winner of the 2015 American Pediatric Academy (APA) Global Health Research Award. Dr. Kebaya currently works as the pediatrician at Maragua district hospital, where she's keen on nurturing her clinical practice and research interests.

Congratulations Dr. Kebaya!