

Launch of Nacosti strategic plan and university research chair

In March 2015, National Council for Science and Technology Innovation launched its first strategic plan since it was transformed from NCST. In this occasion, the University Research Chair for health Research to be headed by Moi University was also launched. The Department was represented by Dr. George Abong' representing the chairman. The department is proud to be associated with NACOSTI and congratulates the staff and management for this launch. We also take this opportunity to congratulate Moi University for being awarded the first Research Chair.
