

The Department of Geospatial and Space Technology and the Geospatial Engineering Students Association (GESA) organized an industrial visit to Ramani Geosystems, one of the leading players in the geospatial industry on 03-10-14.

Students were taken through different production processes involved in the delivery of geospatial products.