

Dr. Martine Odhiambo Oleche attended a Seminar on Economics and Trade for Teachers from African Countries 2015, in Shijiazhuang, China which was held between May 20, 2015 and June 9, 2015. The host was Hebei University of Economics and Business which is a comprehensive university centering on economics, management, and law while covering arts, science and engineering.

The seminar was an economic and business colloquium for African countries covering: An introduction of Chinese culture; Trade and friction of WTO; Foreign exchange control in China; Investment in China; How to carry out business activities in China; Chinese foreign affairs and foreign aid; the present situation and prospects of trade between China and Africa and an introduction of development of foreign business in Hebei. During this period, participants also visited well-known enterprises in China and Hebei as well as Beijing (Peking University), Wuqiao and ShanDong. A total of 25 participants drawn from all over Africa attended the seminar.