

This paper examines, in broader terms, poverty alleviation, food security, environmental resilience through capacity building and institutional support, with particular reference to Kenya.