

Soils with murrum within 50-60 cm from the surface were less suitable for irrigation than murrum-free soils or soils with murrum at greater depth.