

The college of Humanities and Social Sciences (CHSS) has launched the Rapid Results Initiative program.

The afternoon event held at a fully packed 8.4.4 lecture theatre saw the participation of students and members of staff drawn from different schools, departments and institutes that make up CHSS.

Led by Prof. Enos Njeru, Principal CHSS and guest of honor Prof. Agnes Mwang'ombe, Principal College of Agriculture and Veterinary Sciences (CAVS), the audience was educated on various issues including citizenship, leadership, governance, women and the constitution among others.

In her speech, Prof. Mwang'ombe noted that CHSS had a crucial role to play in the implementation of the constitution of Kenya. She added that the launch of the program signified a great stride towards promotion of a culture of constitutionalism across the university and outside. Prof Mwang'ombe further urged CHSS fraternity to continue leading in issues of public sector reforms.

Other notable speakers during the event included, Prof Maria Nzomo, Prof. Patricia Kameri Mbote, Prof Wanjiku Kabira, Dr Adams Oloo and Dr Collins Odote among others.

As a continuation of the RRI program, the college has designed dozens of sensitization activities that will spread to all units within the college. Sponsored by Vice Chancellor, Prof. George Magoha, the 100 day Rapid Results Initiative(RRI) program is expected to comprehensively enlighten the University of Nairobi Community on integrity issues as well as the constitution.
