

Center for biotechnology and bioinformatics gives four during the 53rd University of Nairobi graduation

Academic procession during the 53rd University of Nairobi Graduation Ceremony

The Center for Biotechnology and Bioinformatics graduands were among more than 5000 graduands who were awarded various degrees and diplomas during the University of Nairobi 53rd graduation ceremony. During the ceremony which featured Colleges of Agriculture and Veterinary Sciences, Architecture and Engineering, Biological and Physical Sciences and Education and External Studies, Hon. Justice (Prof.) Jackton B. Ojwang, a Judge of the Supreme Court of Kenya was awarded a Doctor of Laws degree (LLD). While delivering his speech, the University Vice-Chancellor, Prof. Peter Mbithi challenged graduands to enhance their knowledge through furthering their studies. Those who graduated from the Center for Biotechnology and Bioinformatics included Sewe Stephen Okinyi with Master of Science in Bioinformatics and Githinji Irene Njeri, Kamakia Rodah Seleyian and Jeane Piere both with Master of Science in Biotechnology.

Yes, we have achieved! graduands pose for a photo during the ceremony

Download Center for Biotechnology and Bioinformatics Gives Four during the 53rd University of Nairobi Graduation