

wPOWER Hub at Wangari Maathai Institute promotes clean energy technologies at the Nairobi Innovation Week wPOWER Hub at the Wangari Maathai Institute exhibited clean energy technology innovations from various distributors across Africa in the first ever Nairobi Innovation Week that was organized by the University of Nairobi. The three day event held from August 5th to 7th 2015 focused on bringing together all innovation-minded persons to showcase distinct technology-related ideas and products, and/or present papers leading to exhaustive discussions by all aiming to yield practical solutions to the pertinent problems in Africa.

wPOWER Hub Project Officer Simon Kiragu(left), explaining the use of new and improved clean cookstoves.