

Finance participates in Environmental Conservation efforts

The movement towards deeper commitment to environmental protection through planting new trees and taking care of the existing one is rapidly increasing all over the university of Nairobi

The Finance Department undertook the initiative on the 19th of April, 2013, of increasing the numbers of trees within and without the University of Nairobi, by planting 25 new seedlings of mutable species at the College of Biological and Physical Sciences

This event was spearheaded by the head of the Department Mr. Michael Karue. In his speech to the rest of staff members within the department, he emphasized on importance of trees to environmental protection and sustainability. He also outlined how tree planting activity symbolizes the cooperation between colleagues around and within the Department

This was an open event for all members of staff within the department and the entire University of Nairobi

Tree planting an important exercise carried out at the University of Nairobi, usually every year.
