

Trellising did not affect fruit size or quality. Three-wire trellising produced more diseased [Alternaria passiflorae] laterals and fruit than 1-wire trellising. Light and selective pruning produced heavier and better quality fruit than severe or no pruning. ADDITIONAL ABSTRACT: In comparative experiments 3-wire trellising produced more diseased laterals and fruit than 1-wire trellising.