Postgraduate students from the Department of Geography and Environmental Studies joined their counterparts from Germany for the annual international summer school held in Nanyuki and Naivasha, Kenya. The joint Kenyan-German field school focuses on issues of rural and urban development, local socio-ecological systems and global connections. The key idea of the field school is to first do an overview excursion through the central areas of Kenya and then concentrate on one particular area at Lake Naivasha to do a field school together with a training exercise on applied research methods in small independent groups. The field school was organized by University of Bonn (Germany), CETRAD Kenya and the University of Nairobi. The field class coordinators were Prof. dr. Detlef Miller-Mahn (Bonn), Dr. Boniface Kiteme (CETRAD), Dr. Sam Owuor (UoN) and Andreas Gemahlich (Bonn). Our sincere thanks go to CETRAD and University of Bonn! We here are: Antony Ogolla, Teresia Wanjiku, Esther Muiruri, Sally Tirimba, Jackline Wakuyu, Purity Wanjohi, William Andahi, Edwin Ameso, Thomas Okari, Delphine Mutuyimana and Claudine Uwitije.
