

Dr. Koech Oscar from the Department of Land Resource Management and Agricultural Technology (LARMAT) attended a Scientific Research Paper Writing Workshop which took place at the International Livestock Research Institute, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia from 26th to 30th October 2015. The workshop is part of BecA-ILRI Hub's capacity building programme, which aims at empowering the African scientific community to lead the much-needed agricultural revolution. The training aimed at ensuring the trainers are effective in communication of research findings in reputed peer-reviewed journals to increase visibility of research findings. This will enhance assimilation of new knowledge into related agricultural studies and increase efforts on policy influence throughout the region and around the world.
