

Adjunct Professor based at Dow AgroSciences shares experience with CEBIB staff and students

Prof Tarlochan Singh Dhadialla, who was recently appointed as an adjunct professor at the Centre for Biotechnology and Bioinformatics (CEBIB) had a fruitful visit to CEBIB in the month of December 2015 where he shared his experiences and held fruitful discussions with both academic staff and postgraduate students respectively. Tarlochan is a respected scientist/researcher and works at Dow AgroSciences based in the US as an Associate R&D Director for Productivity and Quality. Tarcholan started of his career a research scientist and worked under the world respected Scientist and founder of International Centre for Insect Physiology and Ecology (ICIPE) which sprung off from where CEBIB is currently hosted.